In two of the most exciting games of the season, both marked by sensational finishes and dazzling plays, Indianapolis yesterday afternoon registered a double victory over the Milwaukee Brewers by scores of 5 to 4 and 3 to 2. Over 6,000 enthusiastic spectators sto ! up and cheered when the champlons be ged the first game, and they applauded themselves hoarse when the second game was pulled out of the fire in the card. The crowds filled the stands and bleachers and overflowed the field. The boxes were filled with fair rooters and their enthusiastic escorts. So large was the crowd that it was necessary to make ground rules providing for a hit against the left-field fence entitling the batter to three bases and a hit into left that rolled into the

The games were of the sort to cause much uneasiness, as it required concerted efforts to land both victories. Clever bat-

The fielding in both contests was one of the many brilliant features of the afternoon's sport. Only one error was made in the first battle, and that was a muffed foul ball by Heydon. The Hoosiers played perfect ball in the field in the second game, while Milwaukee contributed many sensational bits of fielding to keep the interest in the battle at a high pitch. Unglaub was the

In the second game two of the youngest pitchers in the association were assigned to slab duty. Eugene Ford did the trick for Indianapolis while Hedges issued twist-ers for the visitors. Hedges is the Kentacky "find" and he possessed the nerve of an eastern Kentucky mountaineer. For seven innings he did his work well and led ie spectators to believe that he was a oung man with a history, probably con-ected with some old Kentucky feud and able to frighten the Hoosiers. But there was a time set for his undoing and it came

BREWERS OFF IN THE LEAD.

The Brewers started off in the lead in the first engagement. Schlafley opened with a single and Donahue's out advanced him a peg. Wood's out sent him to third and he pranced home when Unlaub dumped the ball second and was thrown out. For three innings the Hoosiers failed to get even a scratch hit off Elliott. In the fourth the Brewers furnished a little scarce while in the last half the Hoosiers took the lead by driving two tallies across the plate. Hogriever began the fun with a two base hit to left. When Jones fanned the crowd lost a little hope and Coulter then went out, causing the chances of scoring to drop below normal. Kihm awakened interest by shipping a single to center, Hogriever pranc-

HOOSIERS MADE A GOOD RECORD IN St. Paul Comes This Week for Five in Four Days-General Baseball Gossip and Notes.

The Indianapolis team, since returning home, has won five out of six games, three from Kansas City and two out of three from Milwaukee. The record should have been six straight, but Foreman ruled otherwise and prevented the Hoosiers from winning last Friday. Manager Watkins said his team would try to win four out of five but the record it has made so far is even better. It is very encouraging to the spectators to see the manner in which the team fights for every game and this is half the

The Hoosiers will have another hard series the first of this week when they meet St. Paul, the leaders of the American Association. St. Paul is scheduled here for four days and five games will be played, a double header being arranged for either Wednesday or Thursday. Following St. Paul Minneapolis will be the attraction the last two days of the week. The game to-morrow atternoon will be called at 3:45. Newlin will do the pitching for Indianapolis. Chech will propably puch for St. Paul.

The attendance yesterday was the largest of the season. It will take a few crowds like that, however, to pay the Indianapolis club's losses on the last Western trip. The local club did not get enough as its share of the receipts in the Western towns to pay hotel bills and railroad fares and the salaries had to be paid out of the treasury.

x x x It might be a good idea for T. J. Hickey, president of the American Association, to adopt a new plan regarding umpires for next season. The association cities have been afflicted with some very bad umpiring this season and it is injurious to attendance. The work of Umpire Foreman in Incianapolis last week disgusted the fans even more than poor playing by the home team would do. President Hickey caused the best umpire in the association, Haskeil, to resign by imposing a fine on him when he was sick in Columbus. Next season the worthy association president should secure the best talent to officiate at games and require each of them to furnish a diploma from a gold-cure college showing that he is immune from the desire to gally with the destructive amber liquid or rye juice.

It appears that the Players' Protective Association is beyond the hope of resurrection, as less than a dozen delegates attended the recent meeting in New York called by Secretary Harry Davis. In fact, the association may be dead now officially for all President Tom Daly knows. He was perhaps more surprised than anybody else over the fizzle in New York last Sunday. "I would not be surprised to see the organization fall through," said he today. "A great many of the players seem to care naught for the organization. The American League players displayed the greatest concern, however. I had heard them talk and know how many of them felt about keeping the organization going, I suppose Secretary Harry Davis will inform me of the exact situation by letter. Some of the players may feel as if there is no occasion for organization now, but | Christy Mathewson has received an offer may be later." If the players had only played their cards silently there might have been a longer period of war-time prosperity, but they could not keep quiet and have thus lost whatever chance there might have been to keep the owners of both leagues in a battle with each other. On the other hand, the magnates will agree upon some salary-cutting plan. It is claimed Totals .... 40 13 24 14 3 | that the first move for a meeting on the salary question came from Ban Johnson, and this is no great surprise, for the reason that the American League is carrying more high-priced players than the National and it is a well-known fact that but few of the American League clubs are making Hemphill, Evans.
